Supplementary Materials for the Social Studies Tentative Syllabus - Grade 11: American History

This list of supplementary materials is intended to be a manageable, though by no means exhaustive, group of suggestions to augment the social studies tentative syllabus for Grade 11: American History. It is merely a guide to a few well known materials related to the topics suggested in the syllabus and should serve only as a point of departure from which you can expand to add further depth and dimension to your classes.

Your school librarian and your audio-visual consultant should be of help in meeting individual needs as they develop. There are numerous A-V catalogs, many of which will be on file in your school, and your library should have the Subject Guide to Books in Print, U. S. A. and A Guide to the Study of The United States of America put out by the Library of Congress. These two reference tools list hundreds of books from which you may select those desired for classroom or library use. Of course, frequent consultation of The Readers' Guide to Periodical Literature is a must for keeping up with the most current materials.

Many additional materials are available from the enrichment centers in the PROBE area. To receive materials teachers in those schools serviced by the Curriculum Enrichment Center in Norwich should contact Mrs. Elsie McNulty. For those schools serviced by the Rural Supplementary Educational Center in Stamford, materials may be obtained by contacting Mrs. John Gould. In both instances teachers should indicate specific topics and should allow ample time for requests to be filled.

Your comments and/or additions to this list will be welcomed. Please forward them to Project PROBE, P. O. Box 445, Cooperstown, New York 13326.
